MA in German

Improve your knowledge of German literature, history, movements, language, culture, and traditions behind some of the greatest literary art known with the MA in German. The program trains students for a variety of academic careers as well as for professions outside of academia.

There are three areas of emphasis available to help focus your research interests:
- German Literature
- Comparative Literature
- Language and Culture

Degree Requirements
Students in the German MA program must complete a minimum of 30 credit hours and a thesis or applied project.

| Credit Hours |
|------------------|------------------|
| Core Courses     | 3                |
| Electives/Area of Emphasis | 21-24            |
| Culminating Experience | 3-6             |
| Total Semester Hours Required | 30              |

Core Course
GER 500 Bibliography and Research Methods

Area of Emphasis Courses
Comparative Literature
ENG 501 Introduction to Comparative Literature

Language and Culture
GER 598 German Civilization

Electives
Electives should be chosen in consultation with the supervisory committee. It is recommended that, whenever possible, all 30 hours of coursework be taken under the GER prefix.

Supervisory Committee
Each students’ supervisory committee must include at least 3 faculty members from SILC.
Thesis/Applied Project
Depending on the area of emphasis and future career endeavors, students must complete either 6 credit hours of thesis (GER 599) or 3 credit hours of applied project (GER 593).

Additional Information and Questions
For additional information, please visit silc.asu.edu.